

My name is Stella (she/her). I was born in 1996 and raised in Berlin to a German mother and Dutch father, as a able-bodied, white, cis person. My academic background in Sociology and Architectural Design formed my strong interest in narrative creation addressing the intersections between social structures, emerging technologies, and global transitions. My master's in Design for Emerging Futures has introduced me to the open-source world and distributed design principles which shape my practice nowadays significantly. I believe in facilitating global structures that can be independently adapted and applied in local contexts.

Education

Further Studies

- 2023 - on hold Spanish Ministry of Science, Innovation & Universities. Head of research: Quim Bonastra.
'Sensclusion' research project. An international and transdisciplinary research group looking at interacting factors that contribute to the 'senses of place' in vulnerable neighbourhoods - Besos in Barcelona, San Francisco in Bilbao, Mariola neighbourhood in Lleida, Usme in Bogota.
- 07.2023 Distributed Design Platform & FabLab Barcelona, Spain
Circular Cities Challenge. In international and transdisciplinary teams, we ideated and prototyped circular design strategies for waste management challenges, with a focus on energy consumption patterns. We worked with our local partner, the Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya-EIT InnoEnergy Masters in Energy for Smart Cities, to create a digital interface for citizen engagement. Exhibited at the 'Cultural and Creative Industries' event at CosmoCaixa.
- summer 2023 CCCB & Hangar, Barcelona, Spain
'ruido è' with Silvia Zayas. A research project on somatic attention as part of GRAPA, a pilot programme promoted by Hangar and CCCB to accompany, open up and narrate artistic and narrative processes of artistic creation at the intersection of art, science and technology. Funded and promoted by the Daniel and Nina Carasso Foundation and directed by the UOC.
- 09.2015 - 09.2016 Fairventure InterAKTION, Berlin, Germany & Aigues Frias, Ecuador
Course on humanitarian development cooperation. As part of a German youth group, I spent a year engaging with holistic approaches to humanitarian development cooperation. The programme culminated in a six-week self-organised practical implementation 'Baucamp 2016'.
